- A. They have human qualities.
- B. They are dangerous to humans.
- C. They live in cold areas.
- D. They are larger than humans.
- E. They want to communicate with humans.

Examiner's Commentary: The candidate must consider both texts and select all of the answers which are correct. There could be 2, 3 or 4 correct answers.

Marking Notes

For questions where the candidate is told to select two of the multiple choice options, candidates will only gain marks if they select both of the correct answers. No marks are awarded if only one of the correct answers is selected. No marks are awarded if the candidate selects more than two answers.

For questions where the correct answers involve a range of possible answers (2, 3 or 4 options) without specifying the number, a marking approach will be taken which does not require the candidate to get all of the right answers to score a mark (unless the candidate selects all five options, which will automatically score zero). We will not be sharing further detail about this approach.
